

3 to join Hall of Fame Sept. 10; hoops team honored

Three former Lion athletes and one of the school's best-ever basketball teams will join the Cathedral Latin Alumni Association's Athletic Hall of Fame during induction ceremonies to be held Saturday, Sept. 10 at the Notre Dame-Cathedral Latin School campus.

The 2005 inductees are George Cousineau '43 (deceased), Kevin McGrath '70 and Jeff Cikra '73 as well as the state champion hoops team from the 1976-77 season.

The festivities will begin with a 1 p.m. football game between NDCL and Holy Name. A section of the stands will be reserved for all of the inductees, their spouses and family members. Each inductee will be announced during halftime of the game.

A dinner and induction ceremony will follow the game under a tent near the school.

Kevin McGrath

A two-year starter on Latin's varsity football team, this two-way stalwart was selected to the Plain Dealer Dream Team, all-Crown Conference, Plain Dealer All Scholastic, and Call & Post All Scholastic teams.

A captain on his freshman team, Kevin made the varsity his sophomore year. He earned a starting role on offense (guard) and defense (linebacker) his junior year, winning the team's Most Improved Player trophy.

George Cousineau

The only three-year letterman in the class of 1943, George ran and caught passes for touchdowns and returned punts.

The versatile halfback was a sophomore member of the 1940 varsity football team than won the city championship by beating West Tech 20-6. As a junior, George was named to the city's All-Scholastic squad following a stellar year in which he scored almost half of the total points in a 60-0 romp

Jeff Cikra

Jeff was a dominant force in the trenches on the 1972 football team that ranked as the top squad in the Greater Cleveland area.

The 6-foot-3, 215-pound offensive tackle's physical, precise play earned him honorable mention AAA (large school) all-Ohio; Plain Dealer Dream Team and all-Crown Conference honors his senior season. He also was voted the team's outstanding offensive lineman.

We need you to be involved

I hope you are all having a great summer and I thank you for taking the time to read this issue of the Alumnotes.

The lead article in this issue is the Athletic Hall of Fame induction event. I would like to congratulate the 2005 Cathedral Latin School Hall of Fame inductees: Jeff Cikra '73, Kevin McGrath '70, George Cousineau '43 (deceased) and the 1977 state championship basketball team.

I would also like to congratulate NDCL inductees Tim Salcer '96 and Tom Martin '97 along with the NDA inductees Marcella Bambrick Foxx '24 and Virginia Skuly Stephan '47 (both deceased). These alumni/ae have been selected for induction based on their athletic achievements while attending their respective schools.

This event is a great venue and we would love to see many of you on Saturday, Sept. 10 after the NDCL football game against Holy Name. Last year over 315 people attended.

The other annual events we sponsor are the Merit Award presentation/Communion Breakfast (April 23, 2006) and the Golf Outing (June 30, 2006). Those who attend always have a great time. Please mark your calendars for these future events. I would like to thank the trustees and Sue Wise for their efforts to plan and run these events.

We are also in the final stages of writing the history of Cathedral Latin School book, which will be available in 2006.

I wanted to express my thanks to those of you who have contributed to the 2005 annual dues. The response has been very good. Without your support we could not keep our organization alive and assist in sponsoring events for our alumni and NDCL. If you have not contributed, there is still time to do so. The contribution cutoff date for being recognized in our annual honor roll is December 31. Also, keep in mind the Brother Frank Nurthen Scholarship Fund, earnings from which are used to fund eight partial scholarships at NDCL. Contributions for the annual dues and Brother Frank Fund can be easily made at our online web site using your credit card.

I would like to solicit our alumni for additional involvement and participation. We are interested in hearing new ideas on how to improve the organization. We have a core group of alumni that are trustees and I invite you to become more engaged in our organization.

There are several ways you can become more involved: pay your dues, attend our events, become a trustee or attend a trustee meeting, become an event committee member, chair your reunion, identify a new project for the association, establish or contribute to a scholarship fund at NDCL, attend an event at NDCL or become involved at the school. Among our alumni, we have a vast amount of resources with lots of ideas and energy so why not put them to good use and share them with your fellow alumni and those that will carry on the Latin legacy. Please call me or the alumni office to get more involved. You will not regret it.

Thanks for continuing to be caring Christian men of the world and showing your Latin Pride in deed and truth!

-Chris Lynch '75

Marianists to celebrate 150 years in Cleveland

To commemorate the 150th year of the Society of Mary's presence in Cleveland, the Marianists of Cleveland will celebrate "Chaminade Day" with a 1:30 p.m. Mass on Sunday, Jan. 22, 2006 at St. Patrick's Church in Ohio City. An open house reception in the adjoining parish hall will follow.

St. Patrick's Church, a designated Cleveland landmark, was selected because it is the site of the Marianists first foundation in Cleveland in 1856.

Bishop Anthony M. Pilla will be principal celebrant for the Eucharist and Rev. Paul Marshall, S.M., rector at the University of Dayton and former pastor of St. Aloysius-St. Agatha Parish, will be the homilist.

Alumni and staff from Marianist-related institutions, friends and relatives of the Marianists are invited to participate. To help the Sesquicentennial Committee prepare for the event, contact Bro. Jack Dempsey, S.M., at 216-481-8414, ext. 230 (work) or 216-481-1007 (home at the Marcella Road Marianist Community); e-mail at: jpjd@myway.com or contact Father William Behringer at St. Aloysius-St. Agatha Parish at 216-451-3262.

Communion Breakfast honors Peter Pucher '55

The April 17 Communion Breakfast was an overwhelming success, honoring Peter Pucher '55 as the winner of the Cathedral Latin Alumni Association's Merit Award – the highest honor given by the association.

Rev. Paul Sciarrotta '55, Rev. Lee Sciarrotta, S.M. '55, Rev. Jerry Haladus, O.P.'55, and Rev. Dave Mastrangelo, S.J. concelebrated the Mass at the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist. Bishop Michael Murphy '33 and Bishop Edward Pevec '43 presided at the Mass. Assisting deacons included Rev. Mr. John Sferry '63, Rev.

Dr. Ken DeLuca '65, Rev. Mr. Dennis Bryant '55 and Rev. Mr. Carl Toomey '70. The Class of 1955 also participated at the Mass as gift bearers and readers.

Following Mass, breakfast was served at The Marriott at Key Center on Public Square to 246 guests.

CLAA Secretary Terry Roncagli '77, Merit Award Committee Chairman Tom Ashdown '62, 2005 Merit Award winner Pete Pucher '55, and President Chris Lynch '75.

Once again, the NDCL stage band, directed by Tom Lipps, was featured and played jazz tunes.

The class of 1955 filled eight tables to see their classmate and congratulate him as the 2005 Merit Award winner.

Pucher, who retired and moved to Florida in 1996 after a lifelong association with coaching, teaching, and the development of educational institutions, addressed the crowd after the meal.

"The primary purpose of Cathedral Latin School was to form an intelligent, Catholic gentleman," Pucher said.

"Throughout the growing pains of the early years, the years of progress and the years of hardship, our distinguished alumni and our former teachers are Cathedral Latin School. Latin was not just brick and mortar. It was about people and how they lived their lives. They are more than tradition. They are the life and spirit of the Purple and Gold."

Pucher saluted Bill Mason, Bro. Ken Sommer, George Brickmman, Ed Voytek, Tom Croft, Bob Fitzgerald, Dave Kasunic, Len Wurm, Joe Suchan and Bob "Rip" Rymarczk for serving as examples of that spirit in his life.

He also noted that the work at Notre Dame-Cathedral Latin School carries on the tradition of his beloved alma mater.

"The Latin name lives on at NDCL. Our tradition is alive," Pucher said.

"If you haven't already, become a part of its success story. Visit the school grounds, take a tour of the school, go to an event, donate to their annual fund, speak to one of the students or just say a prayer. It is a place we can all be proud of, besides experiencing a feeling of being welcomed. The result of many individual's continuing hard work, dedication and inspiration, NDCL provides a future for CL's tradition and spirit."

Next year's Communion Breakfast will be held on April 23, 2006.

Athlete, worker and minister, Brother David L. Schmitz earns well-deserved retirement

The “Fastidious Farmer,” the descriptive name assigned to him by his Senior “E” classmates of the Class of '47, was one of the 19 members of the 1945 and 1946 champion football teams that were honored at Latin's Hall of Fame event last September.

In real time, he is known as Brother David L. Schmitz, S.M. Brother Dave is retired and resides at the Marianist Community Alumni Hall on the University of Dayton campus.

Dave entered Latin as a freshman from the west-side parish of Our Lady of Angels. He was a member of the Sodality, played football and ran track his junior year.

During his freshman retreat, Brother John Blank discussed religious vocations and noted the three categories of vocations within the Marianist order: priest, teaching brothers and working brothers. The concept of brothers working and praying together appealed to Dave since he preferred to work with his hands.

After graduating in June 1947, he enlisted in the Naval Reserves in Cleveland and began employment at Midland Ross Steel as a factory clerk at the firm's maintenance and electricians divisions. At his employer's request, he enrolled in an apprentice course for tool and die making.

But in August 1950, with recurring thoughts of a vocation as a working brother, Dave entered the Marianist novitiate. He completed the program in about a year, and then entered the scholastic program for working and teaching brothers.

From 1953 to 1961, Dave was assigned various jobs in the construction field and as a cook in several different communities. He helped remodel St. Ann's Novitiate at Mt. St. John in Dayton, which was renamed the Marianist Retreat House and used for year-round retreats for laymen, high school students and Cana conferences. For the next four years, Dave served as food manager and chef at the Marianist Retreat House.

In 1961, he accepted an assignment to Nkata Bay, Malawi in southeastern Africa to help two other working brothers in the design and construction of classrooms, faculty houses and other projects. Several months later, he was assigned to Karonga, also in southeastern Africa, where the Marianist took over a two-year secondary school to enlarge it to a four-year boarding school. Of this project Dave wrote:

Brother Dave Schmitz

“All construction was done with hand labor except for a truck, cement mixer and a hand block machine, molding one block at a time and 150 blocks per working day. We hauled sand from the lake in our truck to the school property to make the concrete blocks. We had to train most of our workers in the trades and motivate them to appreciate the work they were doing for their people and the students. One of the big challenges was our chapel, designed by Richard Fleischman, a well-known architect from Cleveland, Ohio. A building 60-foot square and 30 feet high designed for a very hot climate with natural ventilation...”

As a working Marianist brother, Brother Dave helped build classrooms, faculty houses and other facilities in Africa.

After 18 years in Africa, he returned to the University of Dayton to continue his education. In 1981, he received a degree in business administration. In 1982, he joined the University of Dayton's staff as supervisor of the School of Business Administration computer laboratories, a position he held until 1998.

The presidential citation he received on his retirement from the university notes: “During the 17 years he managed the [computer] labs, many students gained a few extra hours of lab time by coaxing Bro. Dave into opening the labs early or staying late. He supervised the student lab monitors like family, taking every opportunity to teach about computers, life and faith.”

In commenting about his life of ministry, Brother Dave - with words which modestly reveal his devotion in the Society and its mission – simply said: “I have tried to accept every new assignment prayerfully and cheerfully. I have been blessed living with some exceptional men, in some very good communities over the years.”

On behalf of all Latin alumni, we salute Brother Dave for his tireless work and devotion and wish him well in his retirement.

Inductees

Kevin McGrath

In his senior season, the co-captain rarely left the field as a two-way starter, leading the team in tackles and winning the Most Valuable Lineman trophy.

After graduation, Kevin enrolled at Southwest Missouri State University and became a four-year letter winner in football, starting at guard his final three seasons. He was named to the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association's first-team squad.

After graduating from Central Missouri State University in 1975, he joined the U.S. Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms as a criminal investigator. He served in the Detroit office from 1976-79, and has been in the Cleveland Office ever since. After a 2003 reorganization under the U.S. Department of Justice, he has been an instructor in the ATF National Academy in the fields of explosives and firearms.

One of five McGrath brothers who played football for the Lions in the 1960s, Kevin joins three uncles in the Hall of Fame: Gil Gowan '26, HOF class of 1964; Edward Gowan '28, HOF class of 1978; and Philip McGrath '39, HOF class of 1989.

Married with two daughters and a son, he lives on Cleveland's west side.

George Cousineau

over Central High (including a 67-yard run); and a brilliant 65-yard run against favored rival Holy Name to secure a 7-6 victory.

Lettering in track, George earned a scholarship to play football at Georgia Tech. Like most of his classmates, he chose to serve in World War II, where he fought in the Battle of the Bulge.

He entered his family's industrial scale business upon return, where he became president. He died on Nov. 1, 1973 and is survived by his wife, Deany, and his six children.

1977 State Championship Basketball Team

Coached by Latin alumni Don Gacey '58 and Pat Ambrose '67, the 1976-77 "run 'n gun" basketball team streaked past nearly every mark in the Latin record book en route to the school's only basketball state championship.

The Lions scored over 100 points five times, including 120 in one game – and this was before the three-point shot era! The team rolled to a school-record 24 wins versus just two defeats. They were the Crown Conference, sectional, district and regional champions for the first of three straight years.

Led by senior co-captains Mike

"Hollywood" Harris at forward and guard Bob Lowrie, the Lions roared to the Ohio State AA championship in Columbus. More than 11,000 people watched the Lions rally to win 69-65 against a formidable squad from Columbus Mifflin.

Other players on the team included Tony Strickland '78, Fred Barney '77, Geoff Warren '79, Chris Lachman '77, Fred Tysinger '77, Colin Irish '79, Karl Morris '79, Glen Kellogg '80, Frank Tyes '77, Tim Rachek '77, and Stanley White '77 (deceased). Gacey, Strickland, Warren, Irish, Morris, Harris and Lowrie are in the Hall of Fame.

described him as a tough, smart and disciplined player whose contributions were overshadowed on a roster that included 15 Division I college scholarship recipients in his senior class, including two All-Americans.

Despite a disappointing 7-2-1 record, the 1972 team racked up an astounding 3,000 rushing yards en route to a share of the Crown Conference title.

The four-year honor roll student was recruited by most of the major college football powers, including Ohio State University and Notre Dame, but chose to play for Latin Hall of Famer Don Lawrence at the University of Virginia.

Jeff spent 20 years with his family's local fur business and 26 years with Eddie Bauer Inc. in Beachwood. He works for Carl Bartolone and Sons Wholesale Produce Inc. He is divorced, has two daughters and lives in Chesterland.

On Saturday, April 16 they had dinner at The Club in the Marriott at Key Center in downtown Cleveland. On Sunday, April 17 everyone gathered to honor classmate Pete Pucher at the annual Communion Breakfast. About 50 classmates attended the events.

On Friday, Oct. 15, 2004, the Class of 1954 met at The Wiltshire Party Center at Briarwood Country Club in Broadview Heights to celebrate its 50-year reunion. It was attended by 39 alumni and 28 spouses. Amidst the perusal of photos of past reunions, the food, dancing and inspirational words of Father John Olsavsky and Duke Sitek there was plenty of close conversations and updating of the status of fellow classmates. John Peterson conducted a one-item auction and raised funds for the Alumni Association, thanks to the donated framed Cathedral Latin poster. Jack Kloss came all the way from California for the farthest travel. As we kept in formation, Chuck Bruno led us in a spirited rendition of the Alma Mater. The next day, 15 classmates met at The London Pickle Works for more revelry and reminiscing. On Sunday, Father Olsavsky made references to his classmates and Latin then hosted a brunch at St. Joan of Arc parish hall, while Tom Krebs escorted James Rascher, Charles Courtad and Bob Beno on an excursion to the Notre Dame-Cathedral Latin campus in Auburn, Ohio.

Lions name new varsity basketball coach

Notre Dame-Cathedral Latin School has named Cleveland native Robert Plumley as its new head boys' basketball coach.

Plumley spent the past 11 years as an assistant varsity and head JV coach at St. Francis de Sales High School in Toledo. His JV squad was the Toledo City League champions in 2003 and 2005, as well as Catholic Invitational Tournament champions in 1997, 2000 and 2002.

"I am incredibly honored to be named head coach at NDCL. I look forward to contributing to the tradition of this Catholic institution and returning to my basketball roots here in Northeastern Ohio," he said.

Plumley will also teach religion to seniors, according to NDCL President Sister Margaret Gorman.

"Rob sees coaching as an extension of his ministry as a Catholic educator. He will be a positive role model for all NDCL students, in addition to advancing the boys' basketball program," she said.

A 1989 graduate of St. Ignatius High School, Plumley earned his bachelor's degree in religious studies from John Carroll University in 1994, where he played for Coach Mike Moran. He also holds a master's degree in religious education from Loyola University in New Orleans.

Plumley and his wife, Tracy, have three children.

Tim Mainello

Tim Mainello named new football coach

Tim Mainello has been named NDCL head football coach, taking over a program that has qualified for the state playoffs the past two years.

A member of the Lions football staff for seven years, the 1993 NDCL graduate served as offensive coordinator for the past four seasons.

"I am very happy to have achieved this goal of becoming head coach at my alma mater," Mainello said.

"Our kids are excited and ready to get to work. We fully expect to continue to build on the successes and professional environment created under Coach Dan Thorpe."

Thorpe led the Lions to a 16-6 record over the past two years, before relocating to Chicago with his family.

"We are delighted to name an NDCL alumnus as head football coach," said Sister Margaret Gorman, school president. "Tim is committed to excellence at NDCL, both in the classroom and on the playing field. Our students really respond to his leadership."

Mainello will continue to teach math and science at the school.

Frank Platzar named new NDCL athletic director

Frank Platzar, long-time teacher, coach, dean of students and athletic director at Willoughby South High School, has joined the Notre Dame Cathedral Latin staff as athletic director.

NDCL President Sister Margaret Gorman said NDCL is fortunate to gain an athletic director with such a wealth of knowledge and experience.

"NDCL is a school that is growing and we need strong leadership to ensure that all our athletic programs are successful. Frank's commitment to excellence is well known and he will help our students and coaches immediately."

Platzar recently retired after more than 20 years at South.

"It's been a great run at South, in one of the best districts in the area," Platzar explained.

"I feel fortunate to be able to take early retirement yet continue to do what I love - which is to be around students and athletics."

But he is also enthusiastic about what he sees at NDCL.

"It is an exciting and dynamic place to be. NDCL has many young coaches and everyone there is focusing on growth. The school's Strategic Plan inspires my imagination - and when your mind and spirit are open to change, you can continue to grow."

Platzar holds a bachelor's degree in education from Cleveland State University and West Liberty State College, a master's degree in supervision from Lake Erie College, and a school administration certificate from John Carroll University. He is the third athletic director since 1988 at the Geauga County school.

Do you know?

The Alumni Association's History Book Committee is looking for help from all Latin alumni.

The committee is looking for the names of Cathedral Latin students who were killed in action during the Korean and Vietnam Wars, as well as those who served in various religious ministries through any of the diocesan or religious orders.

The committee wants to recognize the service of those students in the book being written on the history of the school, which is expected to be published in 2006.

Anyone who can help identify those former students is asked to send the student's name, years attended Cathedral Latin, and details of his ministry or military service to the Alumni Office as soon as possible.

The information should be sent via email to clsalumni@yahoo.com or in a letter to 1496 South Green Rd., South Euclid, OH 44121.
